80,000 Workers Affected

Maritime Strike Cripples Shipping

NEW YORK (AP)—A maritime strike spread from port to port today and threatened to paralyze most of the nation's 990-ship merchant marine unless settlement is quickly reached.

More than 80,000 officers and unlicensed crewmen sailing out of East, West and Gulf Coast ports were affected.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who was sent here Thursday by President Kennedy, planned new efforts today to settle the contract dispute between shipping companies and the seven striking unions.

The 70,000 unionists on strike include deck officers, engineer officers, radio officers, unlicensed deck and engine room crewmen

Brittle-Boned Child Faces Operation

CHICAGO (AP)—An infant boy, packed in foam rubber, was flown to Chicago from his home in Little Rock, Ark., Thursday night for surgery aimed to halt his brittle bones from cracking.

Peter Lollar, who has suffered 32 fractures since his birth 18 months ago, slept virtually throughout the flight, said his mother, Lani Lollar, 33.

The brittle-bone condition results from a rare disease known as osteogenesis imperfecta. Peter is to enter the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children for examination to determine whether an operation called "rodding" would help his condition.

The operation involves the insertion of steel rods into bones to provide support and to absorb the pressures of weight and movement, Mrs. Lollar said.

Mrs. Lollar said she and her husband, Oris, an architectural draftsman, were referred to the hospital by their physician in Little Rock.

Senate Passes Multi-Million Highway Bill

Measure Gives JFK Monies To Improve Interstate Roadways

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed the multi-billion-dollar highway financing bill after adding an extension of the billboard control bonus plan.

The measure gives President Kennedy the major share of the revenues he asked for the interstate roads system.

The Senate gave its voice vote approval Thursday night after a nine-hour session. The measure now goes back to the House which has passed its own version.

One major difference between the Senate and House bills: A Senate amendment to continue for two years incentive payments to states to regulate billboards.

The bill is a landmark. This is the first time since the 41,000-mile interstate system of expressways was set up in 1956 that financing is provided to cover the entire federal share of the cost.

The federal government picks up 90 per cent of the tab. Of the system's estimated cost of $41 billion, Washington pays almost $37 billion.

Advocates of continuing the billboard control bonus plan say they have hopes the House will accept it. Rep. George H. Fallon, D-Md., chairman of the House Public Roads subcommittee, said he was prepared to do so.

The bill increases the apportionment of federal funds to the states for the interstate system by $11.56 billion over the next 11 years, and provides the extra revenues to meet these allotments.

The apportionments will be stepped up starting with the one for fiscal 1963, scheduled to be made next month. It will be $2.4 billion, as compared with $2.2 billion for fiscal 1962. The apportionments are authority to the states to let contracts.

The interstate is to be a system of divided lanes, no-stop-light, limited access roads linking every section of the nation. Key sections are commuter expressways in cities aimed at circling chronic traffic jams.

Most of the extra revenue in the bill comes from an extension of the fourth cent on the federal gas tax which otherwise would drop to 3 cents a gallon at the end of this month. This will bring in $524 million next year, $750 million by 1972.

The billboard incentive program gives to states agreeing to regulate billboards within 660 feet of the interstate right-of-way an extra ½ per cent in federal funds of the cost of the road segment involved. It is estimated about 25,000 miles of the system could be covered, but so far only three states have signed up.

Sales Tax Stamps To Be Abolished

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's familiar sales tax stamps are destined to become just museum pieces after Jan. 1, 1962.

Bolivian Reds Riot At La Paz

Peru Troops Called To Avoid Violence

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson flies to Peru today after a night of rioting in Bolivia's capital in which four leftist demonstrators were slain and five wounded. Extra troops and police were ordered out for his visit in Lima to prevent violence there.

The violence that flared in scattered sections of La Paz Thursday was not anti-Stevenson and he was not directly involved in it. Although there were some shouts of "down with Yankee imperialism," the leftist demonstrators were timed to embarrass President Victor Pas Estenssoro during the visit by President Kennedy's special envoy.

In Lima, the guard was doubled at U.S. Embassy buildings and an extra 500 police and troops, 150 plainclothesmen and 50 motorized policemen were mustered for Stevenson's visit. A Communist student leader threatened a "better reception" for Stevenson than the stoning that greeted Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Lima during his 1958 tour of Latin America.

The fighting in La Paz broke out when police tried to turn back a crowd of 200 marching on the presidential palace to protest the detention of persons arrested last week when the government said it had broken up a Communist plot. The demonstrators thought Stevenson and the president were meeting at the palace, but their talk had been shifted to Paz Estenssoro's residence at the last minute.

The police used tear gas and clubs on the crowd, and then shooting broke out. The police claimed they began shooting only after the demonstrators opened fire first with revolvers.

The demonstrations continued until late in the evening in widely scattered parts of La Paz. Stevenson and his party traveled by back streets as a precaution.

discontinue use of the stamps as evidence of payment of the three per cent sales tax has been sent to the Senate floor by the 8-3 vote of the Senate Taxation Committee.

The Senate scheduled an extraordinary Friday session this afternoon. The session was called for a couple of weeks ago when the Republican leadership hoped it would be possible to vote on the $2 billion budget bill today. That bill still is tied up in committee and probably will be until early next week.

While none of the measures before the Senate today are earth-shaking importance, the House will hold a skeleton session to receive the bills passed by the Senate.

The much-debated appropriations bill, even though not before the full Senate yet, raised a partisan storm Thursday.

Minority Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas, charged that majority Republicans in the Senate Finance Committee have been holding secret meetings to chop another $19 million out of DiSalle's two-year budget which already has been whacked $26 million by Republicans in the House of Representatives.

King asserted Chamber of Commerce representatives have sat in on budget-slashing sessions to which Democratic members were not invited.

Senate Finance Chairman William H. Daddens, R-Hamilton, flatly denied Kings statement that chamber representatives were present at any committee meeting, asserted closed-door budget sessions are common in any legislature, including those which are Democratic-dominated, and added:

"This just goes to prove that those who live in glass houses should never undress with the lights on—or throw stones."

To King's complaints that Democratic members are operating in the dark on the budget, Daddens observed that the only time ever was in the dark during his quarter-century in the legislature was two years ago when the Senate lights were turned out one night in the middle of a particularly violent hassle during a Democratic-controlled session.

And, Daddens thundered: "When our cuts are made in the budget, they will be made in open committee and we won't accept the dictates of the (Democratic) governor."

Earlier he had confirmed that appropriations for state-supported universities will be reduced by 6 per cent.

Meanwhile the House completed passage of a bill creating a commission with authority to construct

Heat Prostration Claims 7 Lives

Bad Weather, Fires Plague Western U.S.

By The Associated Press
Western states counted a heavy toll Friday from weather extremes that ranged from oppressive heat in the Far West to rain in New Mexico and flash flooding in some parts of Texas.

At least seven deaths were recorded in California from heat prostration Thursday and an eighth person died as a result of sweltering temperatures in Oregon.

Poultry and crop losses in California were expected to exceed $1 million.

The weather was regarded as a contributing factor in 17 drownings—most of them in the Pacific Northwest and the Mountain States.

A troublesome fire broke out during Southern California's heat wave. The flames fed on rain-soaked brush in the San Gabriel Canyon 25 miles east of Los Angeles and were pushed by hot, turbulent winds.

At last report, it had covered 1,600 acres.

Another fire—in Mint Canyon to the north of Los Angeles—was contained Thursday after burning 5,000 acres.

Rain came to the aid of New Mexico fire crews ending a stubborn, 600-acre blaze in high country east of Tierra Amarilla.

Temperatures Thursday included 108 degrees at Portland, 84 in San Francisco, 83 in Los Angeles and 122 at Palm Desert, Calif. Inland California cities almost all hit 100-plus.

In contrast to the hot blasts in the western sections, unseasonably cool weather continued in most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

Screening Reports From Technicians

'Swap' Team Mum On Trade Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Tractors-for-Freedom Committee has received a secret report from the four technicians who negotiated with Fidel Castro on his plan to exchange men for machines.

Evidently no decision was arrived at by the committee Thursday night on whether to accept the Cuban prime minister's latest demands. He wants $28 million worth of farm tractors for 1,167 Cuban rebels captured in their abortive invasion of Cuba April 17.

A spokesman said early today that the committee would receive a fuller written report from the technicians before making any kind of statement.

He added there likely would be no statement for at least 24 to 48 hours.

At the secret session in Washington, which lasted to near midnight, the four experts reported to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Walter P. Reuther, and Joseph H. Dodge, a fourth member of the committee, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, was not present. Keith Spaulding represented him.

The four experts returned to the United States from Havana Thursday sidestepping all questions when they arrived in Washington in the evening.

"We are coming back to report to the committee," said Duane Greathouse of the negotiators. "We are letting the committee have any reaction."

The committee, however, soon issued a statement saying that it had "heard a preliminary report Thursday night from its delegation of agricultural experts."

"A fuller report will be submitted in writing shortly," the statement continued. "The committee will then make a formal statement concerning the technical commission's discussions."

A spokesman told a newsmen that Reuther, Dodge, Mrs. Roosevelt, and Spaulding were all leaving Washington today and the written report would be sent to them later in the day.

When the negotiators landed in Miami they ran into a one-man anti-tractor crusade.

Douglas Voorhees, a Miami real estate dealer, grabbed two of them as they left the customs line in the airport and shouted, "Call me."

Red Premier's Stand Viewed As Menacing

Mr. K. Repeats Threat To Sign E. German Pact

LONDON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev's new declaration on Berlin was viewed in Western Europe today as tough and menacing—but in the main a restatement of past Soviet demands.

There was general regret that the pronouncement seemed to extinguish faint hopes of an easing of international tension raised by President Kennedy's meeting with the Soviet premier in Vienna earlier this month.

The premier's adamant stand at Vienna already had been disclosed by the official news agency Tass June 11. Khrushchev in a TV fireside chat Thursday night to the Soviet people spelled out his position again.

At Vienna, he proposed an immediate peace conference on Germany that would leave its borders unchanged, make West Berlin a demilitarized city and end Allied occupation rights in Berlin.

If the Allies were opposed to a peace parley, Khrushchev said, West Germany and Communist East Germany should be given six months to work out a treaty that both the Soviet bloc and the West would be bound to accept.

Going over this ground in his report to the Soviets, Khrushchev summed up his position this way: "We ask everyone to understand us correctly. The conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany cannot be postponed any longer. A peaceful settlement in Europe must be accomplished this year."

Khrushchev then repeated his old threat to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany, giving that regime control over

Two Killers Face Justice For 7 Slayings

AURORA, Colo. (AP) — One cocky and defiant, the other relaxed and reticent, two teen-age admitted killers begin the last lap of a journey to justice today.

"I'm kinda looking forward to hanging," said George R. York, 18, in an interview here.

York and James D. Latham, 19, are being returned to Sharon Springs, Kan., where they will be arraigned—probably later today—for one of seven slayings they have boasted of.

They were captured last Saturday at Grantsville, Utah, and cheerily admitted to FBI agents their wave of terror through five states.

York rambled at length to a reporter Thursday night. Fingering a fuzzy beard after a dinner of cheeseburgers and a milk shake, he mused: "I always kinda wanted to know what it's like on the other side, and now I'll get to see. We'll be able to sit over there and laugh at the rest of you guys trying to figure out what's going to happen."

"Y'see, we'll already know." The sandy-haired youth was intense and moody during the interview. Once he nearly shouted: "You can't blame us for what we did and you can't blame our parents. It's the whole damn world's fault."

"Everyone believes in the idea of one man stomping another for his own gain, that's the problem."

U.S. Ready to Put Dominican Problem Into Hands Of OAS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appeared ready today to take its case for a thorough investigation of repression in the Dominican Republic to the Organization of American States.

The U.S. representative on an OAS committee sent last week to the Caribbean country claimed Thursday night he was outvoted by the other members when he pressed for a longer stay.

The committee chairman — a Panamanian — denied to reporters in a separate interview that the United States had urged an extended stay.

The committee returned to Washington Thursday night. Its mission was to determine if the Dominican Republic was ready for readmission to the American family of nations.

A few hours earlier, the State Department issued an extraordinary statement all but saying that the mission had not stayed long enough on the job and in any event should have left official representation in the Dominican Republic to continue its inquiry.

The statement called for a "close and continued study." U.S. officials have made clear they believe there has been no real change in the Dominican government since the assassination May 30 of the country's veteran dictator Rafael L. Trujillo. They have been equally emphatic in saying the United States will not recognize a government carrying on the same policies as the Trujillo regime.

Gerald Drew, the U.S. representative on the mission, said he had presented "very firmly and emphatically" a U.S. suggestion that the committee stay longer for a thorough investigation.

Panama's ambassador Augusto Arango denied to reporters that the United States had urged the committee to stay on.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

An Added Boon to Adoption

Q—Is it true that, after adopting a child, many childless couples are able to have a child of their own?

A—Until results of a statistical study at the University of California were published, I personally believed there was an occasional relationship between adoption and a successful pregnancy in a previously infertile couple. Like so many other physicians I had this happy eventuality.

I remember Dr. H. T. Hyman most vividly as a couple whose marriage had been childless for over 10 years and who had three children of their own in rapid succession after adoption of a baby. However, the California study does not bear out this impression on a purely statistical basis. Thus, of 78 wives who had not been pregnant previously, only four conceived within two years of the adoption. After the two year period of observation, another eight impregnated but these later conceptions were not regarded by the investigators as having been influenced by the adoption. Perhaps the best way of considering the problem is to think in terms of the fulfillment afforded by the adoption itself and to regard subsequent pregnancy as an added boon.

HOW SOON AFTER an abdominal operation is it safe to bathe or shower?

A—If the wound is clean and secure, it is safe to bathe or preferably shower as early as the third postoperative day. A study conducted at Washington University in St. Louis revealed no ill-effects in a group of 100 patients whose clean, secure wounds were left undressed and who were permitted to bathe or shower on the second or third postoperative day. To be sure, there were seven minor wound disturbances but none that could be attributed to the early bathing.

In point of fact, another group of 102 patients who did not bathe at this early time was studied for comparison and the number and type of wound complications were quite similar.

MY CHILDREN LOOK at television at least two hours every day, and longer on Saturdays and Sundays. I've read that this is harmful to the eyes. Can you tell me the best way to regulate their television?

A—I'm sorry to tell you that the British Medical Journal reports that "there is no basis for assuming that prolonged television viewing is responsible for causing refractive errors in children."

This report does not take into consideration, of course, the harm done to developing youngsters by a steady diet of violence, gunplay, slapstick and stupidity.

My personal suggestion for regulating television is to get the advance schedule for the week in your Sunday newspaper and then schedule what you want your children to see at stated times. I don't mean to suggest that you act as a censor or kill-joy. But I do mean to suggest that you prepare a mixed program diet with cultural and educational subjects for the main courses and amusements for dessert. Good luck!

Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the heavy volume of his mail doesn't permit him to answer each individual letter or post card. However, he will comment in columns like the above upon matters of general or unusual interest.

Nobody Wins Them All

This would be a good time to relearn a lesson from our national game.

Baseball should have taught us by this time, though the lesson is hard to learn, that nobody wins them all.

This goes against the grain of rabid baseball fans. They want to fire the manager and shake up the team when things aren't going to suit them. That is the lesson about baseball that should be remembered when things aren't going to suit us in the competition of the "international league."

We're in a losing streak. Our pitchers can't get anybody out. Our fielders are messing up plays that should have been easy for them, like the Cuban invasion.

Our hitters aren't getting good wood on the ball. When they connect, their line drives go straight at the outfielders of the opposition.

Team morale is bad. Individual morale is shaky. The fans in the stands are unhappy and showing their disapproval.

Inquirers are wondering about the front office and second-guessing the manager. It's an old story in a country that calls baseball its national game.

THIS THEN, is a good time to remember how the story turns out in the end.

Good teams have losing streaks.

Good players have batting slumps.

Good fielders have days when they can't do anything right.

In a game of rapid-fire decisions, not all the first guesses can turn out right. Managers are geniuses if they guess right, clowns if they guess wrong.

What Is Government Waiting For?

The Broadway theater is having its darkest hour. A survey by The New York Times reveals the probability that conditions must improve from now on, or the live entertainment capital of the nation will spend the next few years on its death bed.

Among the costs draining its vitality are various taxes loaded on it by over-greedy government. Tax collectors literally are capable in this instance of killing the goose that lays golden revenue eggs—not killing it with one blow but bringing about its death by interminable blood-lettings.

If it were only the living theater being treated this way, it would be a practice peculiar to something in the theatrical world. But what is being done to Broadway is not unique; it is typical.

Punitive taxation plus costly and unrealistic regulation have been draining the vitality of the railroad industry. No one disputes this. All the qualified observers and all the harassed managers know it's true. Even the government knows it's true.

Unrealistic and inept taxing practices are driving many kinds of enterprise to the wall and pinning them there.

They are causing slums to be the most fruitful investment in cities begging for public money to get rid of slums.

But baseball is built on the probabilities of percentage.

Teams that have proved they have the skill and the team coordination to win over the long pull usually do just that; they win over the long pull.

They grin and bear the losing streaks, knowing that sooner or later the percentages will come to their rescue.

They know, too, that the same probabilities which affect them are affecting the opposition.

THE UNITED STATES is still the best bet to win on percentage.

The fact it is in a losing streak and the Soviet Union, its principal opponent, is in a winning streak does not signify the latter will not have its losing streak eventually and the United States will not have its winning streak.

The question is whether the American people can maintain their poise and their sense of history while the breaks are going against them.

This is the lesson they can learn from their understanding of their national game. The English have had to fall back many times on what they had learned to be true on the cricket field. We can learn from the baseball field.

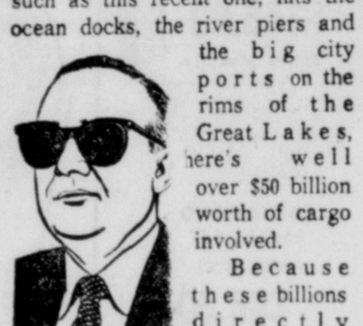

The team with the skill and the know-how will give a good account of itself in the long run. The strongest testimony is the very fact the Soviet Union never has made any secret of the fact it envies everything about the United States, the team it knows it has to beat if it's going to stay in the international league.

"Here's More Food for Thought..."

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Covering the waterfront is no rowboat business. When a crisis, such as this recent one, hits the ocean docks, the river piers and the big city ports on the Great Lakes, here's well over $50 billion worth of cargo involved.

Victor Riesel

Because these billions directly involve about one job out of every four across the land — and in one fashion or another keep every industrial, and home fire as well, going daily — the nation soon will be conscious of the influence of a labor leader it little knows. So will the President of the U.S., a batch of cabinet members, and a larger congregation of governors and industrialists who've been overlooking him.

He is Paul Hall, leader of the Seafarers International Union (SIU) who overlooks mighty little during a "beef," a strike crisis. To many he's a newcomer, to us who know him, he's a master strategist.

STRIKES, when he feels they must be called, are a science to this husky, often open shirted, big-city type viking.

To him now most longshoremen, most seafarers' leaders, most waterfront workers, railroad union men and even some influential regional teamsters look as the symbol of the next generation of national labor leadership.

Hall works from the bottom up. When he struck New York Harbor just before last inauguration day, and national leaders of both parties were gnashing their teeth into expensive dental bills, Hall made certain that his pickets would not suffer from the famous blizzard.

They were strung out along paralyzed rail lines leading to the harbor — and to them he sent special heating units, winter underwear, mobile canteens, "foul weather gear," and galoshes.

Then he went to deal with Gov. Rockefeller, President Kennedy and Secretary of Labor Goldberg.

What John Lewis was to the '30s, Hall could well be to the '60s. For, this blondbird seafarer in fact, if not in name, is the force behind the official leadership of a network of unions whose table of organization could match the Navy's even if the nation knows virtually little of it.

Atop this coalition of unions is the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department.

THIS DIVISION, operating out of the Washington national labor headquarters, which Hall eschews for his own modern, electronically operated Brooklyn office, has 32 national unions.

Some of the Maritime Department's units are not seagoing. But all are related to the sea — such as the shipyard workers.

In turn, the Maritime Department coordinates and is liaison for some 25 port councils ranging from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts and the Pacific as well.

Biggest of these is the Port Council of New York Harbor and Vicinity. This report is no place for an analysis of Paul Hall's mystique. What ever it is, it's all prevailing and convincing — for he had brought into the New York Port Council some 40 national unions.

They are represented by their regional people in more than 120 locals. These range all the way from teamsters and white collar city employees to railroad employees.

When they get word of a strike, their official leader, Tony Scotto, telephones or telegraphs the locals and nothing moves.

ALL THIS is the groundwork apparatus.

In this council are the carpenters, the operating engineers, the tugboat men, the boilermakers and a lot of craftsmen you would not usually link with the waterfront — but try and run a dock without them.

To this Hall and his colleagues have added something called the National Committee for Maritime Bargaining. This is made up of 10 unions with some 150,000 members.

These include masters, mates, stewards, cooks, ship engineers as well as seamen. When this committee and the port councils strike, they deaden a $50 billion import-export industry.

For the past two months they have talked quietly of such a strike. In one of the final sessions with the ship owners, Hall said in effect: We're ready to extend the contract a year without increasing shipping costs. But we want a joint labor-management committee whose decisions will be the voice of the industry.

All other unions which have been watching their employers shift to lower cost nations, be it to make movies or typewriters, are watching Paul Hall and his "beef."

They wait to see if he can force ship companies to bring their vessels back from foreign registry to American flag operation. There's more here than appears on the waterfront.

Tricked By Soviets

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Reds May Be Violating Nuclear Test Ban

The United States is still staring and moonazing while the Soviet government is gaining its biggest victory below the earth's surface.

For two years and seven months now this country has voluntarily refrained from any nuclear testing, though there is every indication that the Soviets, while professing to do likewise, have been cheating.

Since it is impossible as yet to detect with certainty any underground testing of nuclear devices, the experts here believe the whole crusade to ban nuclear tests is based on a Communist trick to outwit the United States.

Many members of Congress, including Democrats, now are in favor of resuming tests. Sen. Symington, D-Mo., has suggested that reasons of national security and the possibility that the Soviet Union has been secretly conducting tests are forcing the United States to a renewal of weapon development.

He added that the Soviet Union might have decided not to reach an agreement at the Geneva Conference "because of the tremendous unilateral advantage we had passed over to them voluntarily" by declaring a suspension on Oct. 31, 1958.

Then Eisenhower—who as president approved the voluntary ban—has come out now for a resumption of testing. He put it this way in a public comment, the other day in Cincinnati:

"We cannot very much longer put this thing on ice. The time has come when we are going to have to fix a date. I told my own people before I left office we were going to have to take steps to lay down a date where we would no longer be bound by an agreement tacit or otherwise."

"We already have made that statement that we are no longer bound to abstain from testing, but we haven't yet fixed a date. If we are just going to stand here talking this way — and while the talking goes on, so far as we know their tests may be going on in that vast (Russian) interior."

President Kennedy has hinted but has not flatly stated that there would be a resumption of testing. He has said that the United States would continue negotiations at Geneva as far as possible so that the world will know that it is not this country's fault if the talks fail and testing is resumed.

The whole issue is permeated with hypocrisy. The mere ban on testing of nuclear weapons will not save any country from a holocaust. The crusade instigated by the Communists throughout the world to stop nuclear tests has given a misleading impression.

The signing of such a treaty doesn't mean that either the United States or the Soviet Union would agree not to use in the future the nuclear weapons already tested or to destroy them altogether so they never could be used for inhumane purposes.

SO WHAT is the real motive behind the worldwide pressure the Soviets have created in order to get a ban on nuclear testing? Also, why have they prolonged the negotiations and set up obstacle after obstacle to cause the western powers to be deprived of any treaty or agreement on a nuclear-test ban?

There could have been only one object — to delay the negotiations as long as possible while the United States refrained voluntarily from any testing.

The Eisenhower administration at first resisted such pressure but the Democrats and many persons in the scientific world thought much would be gained in the court of world opinion by a "unilateral" or voluntary ban.

At the time Adlai Stevenson first made the suggestion when he was running for the presidency in 1956, the Republicans, led by President Eisenhower, denounced the proposal. But two years later the voluntary-ban idea was accepted by the Eisenhower administration over the protests of many top experts in the government.

On Capitol Hill hardly a voice was raised then by Democrats in opposition. In fact, they gloated over it as a surrender by Mr. Eisenhower to the position taken by Mr. Stevenson during the 1956 campaign.

WHAT BROUGHT about the reversal? There is no doubt to believe that our allies played a significant part in forcing the voluntary ban.

Thus, in England the British Labor party for a long while demanded that a nuclear-test ban be imposed and that the storage of nuclear weapons or the establishment of missile bases inside Great Britain by the United States should be prevented.

Lately the Labor party, due to a serious division in its ranks on this question has shown signs of wishing to wiggle out of the test-ban issue on the political front.

In almost every country in the world the test-ban idea has been constantly agitated. While many pacifists and other sincere persons have joined in the worldwide movement, still it is doubtful whether the crusade could have achieved such momentum or far reaching scope without Communist funds and the inspiration or direct help of the Communist apparatus in every country.

Tests conducted below ground involve no danger whatsoever. There is no fall out, the effects of which have been grossly exaggerated so as to produce a scare propaganda.

The recent series of events tends to support the belief that the United States has been outmaneuvered by the Communists and that valuable time has been lost that should have been used to keep the Soviets from getting ahead of us.

It could prove more important to the safety of the American people than exploration of space and projected flights to the moon.

Our Readers

Dear Editor:

For the past 25 years, polecats, raccoons, stray dogs and the biggest menaces of all, foxes, have harassed the penned-in animals of this area.

These culprits have been hunted, chased and caught, but they have continued to kill and destroy. More than $100 of my ducks and geese were killed by foxes Thursday morning.

When we catch stray dogs destroying animals, the county pays for the damages caused. However, we have collected only one time because the county will pay only if two witnesses have seen the incident.

I believe that the hunting license fee should provide for damages that wild animals cause to penned-in animals and birds.

Reverence is the very first element of religion; it cannot but be felt by everyone who has right views of the divine greatness and holiness, and of his own character in the sight of God.—Charles Simmons.

So They Say

We are going to have to get along with Castro and others like him... Castro has sought to bring social justice to the masses. —Newspaper reporter Herbert L. Matthews, saying Castro regime is leftist by force of circumstance, but not Communist.

Matter of Fact

When night falls the parrot fish prepares for bed. But this turquoise-beaked tropical fish has to have a nightgown. So he spins out a fine thread like a spider's and weaves himself a strong cocoon complete with front door. When daylight comes, he struggles out of his nightgown and goes hunting for his breakfast.

Victorian standards for schoolmarms were still in vogue in the 1920s—at least it looks that way from a recent account of a teacher's contract signed in 1923. The poor girl promised not to go out with men, not to loiter in ice cream parlors, to be home nightly at eight, and not to leave town without permission. For all this—plus her teaching duties—she got $70 a month.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Gentlemen of the Class of 1961: In view of the condition the world is in as you face, its problems, your Alma Mater for the first time offers a year's supply of headache powders with each diploma.

You have gone through college the hard way. Hard to get in, hard to finish and hard to finance.

At times your fathers must have wondered whether they were helping you get an education or qualifying for a TV show called "The Price Is Prohibitive."

Keep a stiff upper lip, a pocket-geography, a stout heart and a list of air raid shelters.

The employment situation is not too good but I am sure some of you leave the campus with $100,000 or more as a big league bonus pitcher.

Summer jobs will be fewer but you can do well as lifeguards if you don't demand fringe benefits for dragging a pretty girl from the surf or mediation in a dispute over rescuing a fat man who has gone down for the eighth time.

If you land a job at twice what you are worth in business don't let your first question be "What's the pension?"

Do not believe the age of opportunity has ended. There are many openings in the new bowling alley and fibre-boat construction industries.

The Peace Corps offers you a chance to get lost, with expenses paid. Eating the food in primitive countries should come easy after four years of life in college dining halls and off-campus beaneries.

If you think you may have a hard time making both ends meet, think of your old man. You have but to look at his face to realize he has "gone for broke" while you have gone for football and track.

Gentlemen, I leave you with this note of cheer: Automation may be delayed by strikes men are needed in the guided missile trade, there is a prospect of shorter hours for student riots, and your transfer to the moon is always possible.

FEDERAL BUREAU says New York City has lowest wages of U.S. big cities. Just seems so after picking wrong horse, loss of gasoline in traffic jams and a round of musicals and nightclubs.

John Perona, famed proprietor of El Morocco, began as a bus boy and was once a sparring partner of Luis Firpo. He opened a small restaurant in New York shortly after coming to America and decided later to go all out for "class." Finally insisted on black tie and forbad tan shoes after sundown.

Archie Moore, on last fight performance will be a pushover for the first young, fast opponent with a punch.

Bill Veeck who has sold White Sox to partner was only real showman in baseball. His retirement means a big drop in new ideas for pleasing customers.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Jealous Husband

Dear Ann Landers: We are three 15-year-old girls who want to know how to handle an unusual problem.

A girl in our crows always has been a big braggart and now she's getting on our nerves. Her father was sentenced to serve a term in prison for embezzling. It was on the front page and everybody was talking about it.

Almost every day this girl comes to school with a new story on what a wonderful time her father is having. She says he is meeting big executives from all over and is having a ball.

To listen to her talk you would think he is away on a vacation. We are getting fed up on this baloney and want to know what to do about it.—THE CIRCLE.

Dear Circle: This poor kid is trying to cover up her shame and embarrassment by making her father's prison term sound like fun.

Listen patiently and say nothing. She is not responsible for what her father did. Now is the time for you girls to show compassion and understanding. I can promise you it will be mighty welcome.

Dear Ann: I've been married for 12 years to a man who was always a little jealous but now is driving me crazy. He accuses me of carrying on with the mailman, the milkman, old friends, new friends, his brother — any male who speaks to me.

We have five children, three in school and two at home. And his mother lives with us. I have a big house to take care of and, believe me, it takes all my time and energy to get through the day.

When I ask him to please tell me when, how and where I could entertain men he says, "You always were good at working things out."

He talks like this in front of the children and it's more than I can take. What shall I do? — DORA.

Dear Dora: A man who repeatedly accuses his wife of cheating in the face of no evidence whatever is mentally ill. Urge him to seek professional help at once. Tell him that life with him under these conditions is intolerable and that he must make an effort to bring himself back to reality. If he refuses, enlist the help of your clergyman and doctor and make it plain that unless he makes an attempt he will have to headquarters elsewhere.

Wait For Christmas

Dear Ann: Although I am old enough to be your father I am asking for your advice.

My wife and I moved to Florida two years ago when I retired. She is the friendly type and already has become active in many clubs.

The problem is her friends are all widows and few have their own cars. So whenever I drive my wife to or from a meeting, a card party or what have you, I have three or four women to pick up and take home.

No one ever offers to fill up the gas tank. My wife says I'm being petty. What's your opinion? — THE DRIVER.

Dear Driver: Since you must drive your wife anyway, what's the difference if you have one passenger or four? Be cheerful and gracious. Maybe the girls will get together and buy you a couple of ties or a pipe for Christmas.

4 Vehicles Damaged In Traffic Crash

No one was injured but considerable property damage resulted from an accident involving a car and two trucks, one of them hauling a load of new cars, at 3 p.m. Thursday on Rt. 14, a half mile west of the Pennsylvania state line.

The State Highway Patrol said the car involved was stopped in a line of traffic ahead of a tractor-trailer when the truck hauling the new cars failed to get stopped. It crashed into the rear of the tractor-trailer which in turn struck the rear of the car.

In addition to the three vehicles involved, the new car being carried just over the top of the cab was also damaged.

Chester Kozerski, 37, of Kenosha, Wis., driver of the car hauler, was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Edward E. DePillo, 30, of New Waterford, was driving the tractor-trailer while Howard R. Webb, 65, of Pittsburgh was driving the car. All three vehicles were headed east.

in the vast Port of New York and in some other ports.

No American-flag luxury liner was docked in New York when the strike began.

None is due in until next Wednesday, when the United States and the Constitution are scheduled to arrive. The big foreign liners, along with other foreign vessels, are not affected.

A number of seagoing unions with an estimated 10,000 members were not on strike because their contracts have not expired.

Ships at sea will not be affected until they reach American ports.

Joseph Curran, president of the big National Maritime Union, said support of the strike has been pledged by the International Longshoremen Association, the Teamsters Union, union oil workers and central labor councils in 30 ports.

A major issue in the dispute is the union demand for a right to organize and represent the crews of American-owned ships that fly so-called "flags of convenience." Most of these 450 ships are tankers registered under the flags of Liberia, Panama and Honduras.

The unions call them "runaway ships," with lower pay and inferior working conditions compared to American-flag ships with union crews.

The striking unions are: National Maritime Union, which claims 37,000 members, has an estimated 22,000 of them actively employed.

Seafarers International Union, which claims 70,000 members, with 23,000 working.

Masters, Mates and Pilots (deck officers)—12,000.

Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (officers)—11,000.

American Radio Association (officers)—1,000.

Radio Officers Union—500.

Staff Officers Union (purser)—500.

Number of County Wards Decreases

LISBON — The number of children in care of the County Welfare Department showed declined by six during May, according to the report of Robert Bycroft, director.

On May 1, the department had 202 children under its care. It added 13 during the month, but 19 were dismissed as wards.

Beginning June 1, the department had 196 children on its rolls — 139 in boarding homes, 26 in adopted homes, 10 in free homes, three in work homes, three with their parents, and five in institutions.

Riots

It was the second violence of Stevenson's tour, which now has covered seven of the 10 capitals he is visiting. In Santiago, Chile, about 30 leftist youths smashed windows of the U.S. Information Agency. In Montevideo, Uruguay, leftist youths held an anti-U.S. rally but there was no violence.

As in the other nations visited, Stevenson's talks with Bolivian officials were mostly concerned with the coming meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council to deal with Kennedy's alliance-for-progress program of economic improvement for Latin America.

It was understood that most of the governments so far favor a two-week delay in the conference, now scheduled to start July 15 at the Uruguayan seaside resort of Punta Del Este.

Khrushchev

the supply lines to the Allied garisons in West Berlin. And he said any attempt to change Germany's present borders "would mean a thermonuclear war."

To some British newspapers, the tenor of Khrushchev's remarks appeared to be a warning to the West that he at last means business over Berlin. The Daily Sketch headlined: "Berlin by Christmas, warns Mr. K. The heat's on." Its story said Khrushchev "left no doubt (that) he has turned the heat on the Berlin issue."

Kennedy himself, in his report to the people of the United States on June 6, declared that "our most somber talks were on the subject of Germany and Berlin."

Khrushchev told the Soviet people the Vienna meeting "provided a good opportunity for a first personal contact and an exchange of opinion" and "was worthwhile and even necessary."

On disarmament, Khrushchev asserted the Western nations were not prepared to negotiate seriously "and to be frank, do not want disarmament to this day." He repeated the perennial Soviet demand for a general agreement now, and details to be worked out later.

The Western allies refuse to commit themselves to a promise of disarmament until assured of a control system that will permit no cheating.

Khrushchev also repeated his demands—previously rejected by the West at Geneva—for a three-member control commission to enforce a nuclear test ban. One would be Communist, one Western and one neutral, each with a veto.

Though his words were old, the format for Khrushchev's speech was new to the Soviet Union. His important public pronouncements heretofore have been made before gatherings of high government and party officials.

The premier spoke over Soviet TV and radio from Moscow's central TV station. TV also carried the speech to East Germany and other Soviet bloc nations.

He said also that the board has received a letter from County Health Commissioner C. S. Palmer, citing the necessity of creating the sewage district, and the opinion of County Prosecutor G. Hunston declared that part-time county engineer George Bloomgren of East Liverpool is attempting to secure federal aid for the survey of the district. Tribe Bobbles Help Yanks Into First

Blow Lead, Lose 3-2 in 11 Innings

Grant Has 1-0 Shutout Until Mantle Homers In 8th; Funk Suffers Loss

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians suddenly lost their fielding touch—and with it, first place in the American League.

It cost them Thursday night as they made four errors and handed New York two unearned runs—enough for a 3-2 loss in 11 innings. It dropped the Indians into a second-place tie with Detroit, .005 behind the Yanks.

The Indians went through five straight games without committing a boot. Then two errors cropped up Wednesday night when the Yanks romped 11-5.

Indians Held 1-0 Lead

The Indians led 1-0 after six innings Thursday night as Jim Grant sought his eighth straight triumph and had the edge on Ralph Terry. Cleveland scored in the third inning on Woodie Held's single and the first of Bubba Phillips' two doubles.

But Terry got tougher as the game wore on. New York broke through Grant in the seventh when Mickey Mantle lofted a home run—his 19th—just inside the left field foul pole. Then Yogi Berra sent a soft fly to left. Tito Francona came over, got under it and then staggered. He dropped it for a two-base error and Berra scored on Elston Howard's single to right.

"It wasn't the lights or the wind or anything like that," said Francona later. "I just dropped the ball. What a time for that to happen!"

Romano Hits Clutch Single

Trailing 2-1, the Indians tied it in the ninth after Vic Fournier hit a hit to center and turned on the speed to make it a double. Power made it to third base on a fly to right and crossed easily when John Romano slugged a clutch single up the middle for his 42nd run batted in.

Frank Funk (7-5), who came in to pitch at the start of the ninth, ran into trouble in the 11th when he walked leadoff batter Bob Cerv. With one out, Cerv was running as Howard struck out. Cerv stole second and continued on to third when Romano threw wild for the Tribe's fourth error. Passing up a chance to intentionally walk left-handed swinger John Blanchard, Funk got the count to 0-2.

Blanchard swung to stay alive and looped a soft liner just over Johnny Temple's leap.

Power's Bunt Surprised Dykes

The Tribe mounted one last threat against Terry in the 11th when Francona beat out an infield hit with one out. Then Power laid down a bunt, moving Francona to second. But Willie Kirkland fanned for the third out.

"I want responsible for that one," said Dykes in discussing Power's bunt. "I don't know why he did it."

Dick Stigman (1-0) makes his first start of the season tonight against Baltimore's Chuck Estrada (4-4) in the opener of a four-game series here with the Orioles.

Herron's Wins on Tucker's Homer

Shaffer Ford Deals Stepanic's First Loss

Shaffer Ford handed league-leading Stepanic's Tavern its first setback of the season in the Class AA softball loop by chalking up a 6-3 victory last night at Kelley Field.

Herron Transfer broke into the win column for the first time with a 4-1 decision over Deming Co. who replaced the Truckers in the Class AA basement.

The third game carded last night between Old Dutch and Industrial Mining went 11 innings before it was halted by the 11 p.m. curfew with the tie knotted at 3-3.

SHAFER FORD jumped off to a 2-1 lead in the first inning against Stepanic's and was never headed. A four-run outburst in the sixth put the game on ice.

Hiner, Roller, James and Altomare all hit singles for Shaffer's in the big sixth inning. An infield error made two of the four runs in the frame unearned.

Roelen and Roach of Stepanic's and Hiner of Shaffer's each collected two hits in the game. Altomare was the winning hurler while Stonemetz got tagged with the loss.

A HOMERUN by Joe Tucker

Major League Stars

Pitching — Ralph Terry, Yankees, allowed seven hits, walked just one and struck out eight for 3-2, 11-inning victory over Indians that put Yanks in first place.

Hitting — Tommy Davis, Dodgers, kept Los Angeles in first place with three-run, two-out homer that beat Cubs 6-3 in 12th innings.

Tigers Blasted 10-1 by Bosox, Drop Into Second Place Tie

The New York Yankees, with unbeaten right-hander Ralph Terry going all the way with a seven-hitter, beat Cleveland 3-2 in 11 innings Thursday night and moved into first place in the American League race by .005 percentage points.

The loss dropped the Indians into a second place tie with the Detroit Tigers, who were whipped 10-1 by Boston.

Washington tied Baltimore for fourth place by beating the Orioles 5-2, the Chicago White Sox won their seventh in a row, 3-2, over the Los Angeles Angels, and Minnesota beat Kansas City 4-3.

A grand-slam homer by Vic Wertz capped a winning, five-run fifth inning for the Red Sox and beat Jim Bunning (5-6). Right-hander Bill Monbouquette (4-6) was the winner.

The Senators backed the four-hit pitching of Ed Hobaugh (4-3) with an 11-hit attack against the Orioles. Hec Brown (6-3) was the loser.

Jose Valdivielso beat Kansas City and reliever Jerry Staley (0-4) with a ninth-inning single after the A's had tied it in their ninth. Hank Bauer hit a two-run homer for the A's, and Bob Allison swatted a three-run double for the Twins. Jack Kralick (6-4) was the winner.

The White Sox broke up a two-hit shutout by Eli Grba (5-6) with three unearned runs in the eighth. Billy Pierce (3-5), winning two in a row for the first time this year, and reliever Warren Hackbart combined for a four-hitter against the Angels.

DERBY TROPHY — Joy Miller of Ashland displays the Ohio Derby trophy which will be awarded to the winner of the 27th Ohio Derby this Saturday at Randall Race Track. The Derby trophy is a replica of the famous trophy given to Lord Nelson after the British Naval battle at Trafalgar. The $15,000 added money race is Ohio's oldest and most famous race, and is the sixth oldest in the nation.

14 Expected to Run Saturday

Editorialist, Up Scope Early Favorites to Cop Ohio Derby

CLEVELAND, O. — With the arrival early yesterday of Jet's Pat and Soda Stream, the entire picture of the Ohio Derby began to unfold for Saturday's 27th running at Randall.

Entries for the race are due to close tomorrow morning. It looks as though there will be a field of 13 or possibly 14 in the gate for Ohio's richest race of the 1961 season.

Jet's Pat and Soda Stream both arrived from the East, to be d down alongside Editorialist, Little Atlas, First Monday, Kurri San, Gaze, Gay's Pal, Fool-Me-Not, Sunaqua, Marvelous Mel and Col. William P.

When Up Scope and Dearborn, two more of the outstanding three-year-olds still to arrive, the field shapes up as a fine bunch of sturdy three-year-olds, and a wide open race is in prospect.

If there is to be an early favorite, it would have to be selected from Editorialist, Up Scope and possibly Soda Stream. There is still a possibility that Ring Around will be shipped here from the Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt Farm, and he too would have to be given a chance.

Lurking quietly in the background is the hometown favorite Gay's Pal. While all the talk settles around the invaders who will be seeking the big portion of the purse, the swift colt has gone about his work in a business-like manner.

Winner of three fine allowance races this spring, he just worked a mile at Randall in 1:38 4-5, indicating that he can easily go the Derby distance of a mile and a sixteenth.

Jet's Pat, the latest arrival, is a corker of a horse. Winner of more than $17,000 this year, he defeated Globemaster in a race at Aqueduct on March 20th.

If the race grosses $19,000 Saturday, as it is expected to, the winner's share will be slightly more than $12,000. Post time Saturday will be 2:15, with some 12,000 fans expected.

Hot Stove Leagues

Undeclared Electric Furnace had to go an extra inning to continue its winning ways as it downed Salem Stamping 10-9 in a Class F battle which was one of six games played in the Hot Stove Leagues Thursday. The Furnace nine is leading the loop with a 6-0 record.

In the other Class F tilt the Elks tripped Sekely's 8-5 in a game that saw the winners break a 2-2 tie.

CIO 2463 jumped out into a 7-0 lead in the first two frames to coast to an 8-1 victory over CIO 3372 in a Class E encounter. Dick Owens was the winning hurler, throwing a one-hitter and fanning 10.

Pounding out 12 hits Petrucci's handed Hunt's Ind. Union its fourth loss in five starts 17-5 in a Class G contest.

Two Class H games were played with Home Furniture capturing its fifth win in seven tries 13-9 over Dairy Isle and Merchants Vending dumping Stark's Colonial 12-6.

South Cagers Hold Height Advantage

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—With only one player failing to hit the six-foot mark, the South squad boats a height advantage over its rival in the fourth annual North-South all-star Ohio high school basketball game at Cuyahoga Falls Saturday night.

L. C. Snow, a 5-11 guard from Dayton Roosevelt, is the only non-six-footer in the Rebel crew.

George Heller, coach of the Class AA state champion Portsmouth Trojans, and Columbus Hines of New Lebanon Dixie are the South coaches. They have announced plans to use a platoon system by quarters to give all members of the squad a chance to play.

One platoon, led by Dick Ricketts of Belle Center, has a 25-point scoring average per man and the other, paced by Steve McCullough of Urbana Salem Local, averages 18.

Coaches and scouts from many colleges are expected to watch the 22 players—11 on each squad—perform.

Ohio State University, Miami, Toledo, Ohio University, Bowling Green and several other Ohio schools will have coaches in the stands. Niagara University, Michigan, Army, Navy and Florida are among those indicating they will scout the game.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates swapped outfielder Gino Cimoli for shortstop Johnny Logan of the Milwaukee Braves Thursday night to climax a busy day of front-office activity.

In other actions the Pirates sold catcher Bob Oldis to their Columbus, Ohio, club in the International League and purchased catcher Don Leppert from Columbus; and asked waivers on infielder Gene Baker to make room for outfielder Walt Moryn, bought from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bucs Give $175,000

To Sign Prep Star

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates today signed 18-year-old prep baseball star Bob Bailey for what may have been baseball's biggest bonus.

Rumors place it around $175,000. The Pirates and Bailey aren't saying. The previous high figure — one carefully guarded in baseball circles — was believed to be about $50,000 less.

Bailey stands a bit over six feet tall, weighs 185, and hits like the village blacksmith. He batted .475 in 19 high school games this season. He got better-than-average grades (a straight B average) and turned down several football scholarships to big-name colleges to sign with the Pirates.

They are sending him to As to play shortstop.

Art Mahaffey of the Phillies completed eight of his first nine starts this spring. In two of the games his team failed to score a run.

Spectator Rattles Tommy Bolt

Bobby Brue Takes Lead in U.S. Open

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP)—

A bright newcomer pro, Bobby Brue of Milwaukee, held a one stroke lead and was just about the only happy man in the 150-player field which plunged into the second round of the 61st U.S. Open Golf Tournament today.

Former champion Tommy Bolt, who usually just gets mad at himself, ranked over a spectator's tongue-lashing which apparently caused him to fall into a second-place deadlock at even-par 70 with Bob Goalby, another ambitious, if unheralded pro.

All except three players were over par in a temper-testing round at windswept Oakland Hills Thursday. Today's second 18-hole skirmishing will reduce the field to the top 50 and ties for Saturday's closing double-round.

Brue, 26, former University of Miami (Fla.) golf captain playing in his second Open, tamed Oakland Hills' par 35-35-70 course for the day's only sub-par round, 35-34-69.

Bolt took three bogies after a spectator called him a "schmoe" — a Jewish term roughly translated into "jerk" — on the 14th green.

Bolt had complained when a small girl ran across his line of vision on a putt. That brought the "Don't be a schmoe" crack from a spectator.

Bunched between 71 and 74 were no fewer than 46 famous and not-so-famous shooters, including six former Open champions.

Ben Hogan, seeking an unprecedented fifth Open title, was grouped with six others at 71, two strokes off the pace.

Nine players were locked at 72, including Doug Ford, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Rosburg and Dave Douglas.

First round leaders in the U. S. Open golf championship in graded order (par 35-35-70):

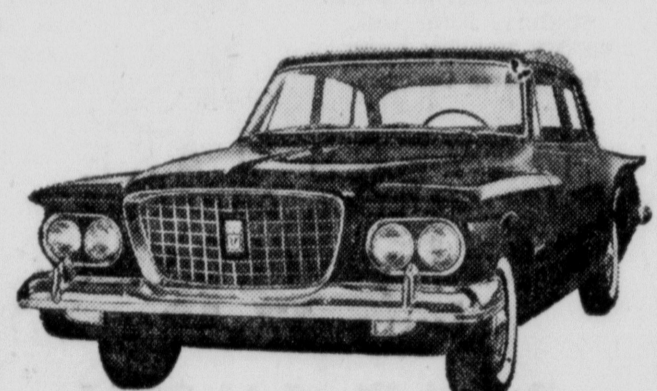

x—Denotes Amateur
Bobby Brue 35-34-69
Bob Goalby 35-35-70
Tommy Bolt 34-36-70
Paul Harney 35-36-71
Ken Nagle 36-35-71
Rex Baxter Jr. 35-36-71
Ben Hogan 34-37-71
Marty Furgol 36-35-71
Allen Geiberger 34-37-71
Bruce Crampton 35-36-71

Ohioans' scores:
Dow Finsterwald 36-36-72
Frank Stranahan 35-38-73
Bob Shave 37-36-73

They also had picked up an unearned run while scoring two in the ninth for a 3-3 tie, after the Cubs had cracked a duel between Glen Hobbie and Dodger reliever Roger Craig with two in the top of the ninth.
